II--SILVER STAR. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the Act of Congress, approved 9 July 1918, a Silver Star for gallantry in action is awarded to:

Chief Warrant Officer Michael J. Davis, W3151943 (then Warrant Officer), United States Army, who distinguished himself on 1 April 1965, while serving as the pilot of an armed helicopter in support of a combat ground operation in the Republic of Vietnam. Throughout the day an airlifted Vietnamese unit had fought desperately to avoid being overrun by a numerically superior Viet Cong force equipped with automatic weapons, mortars and recoilless rifles. As darkness approached, the Viet Cong broke through the Vietnamese defense and all but one American advisor were killed in the raging firefight. The remaining advisor was cut off from the withdrawing Vietnamese by the attackers and radioed for help from the armed helicopters overhead. Completely disregarding the intense enemy anti-aircraft machinegun fire, Warrant Officer Davis immediately landed his heavily laden armed helicopter without the use of lights in a flooded rice paddy. He then left the helicopter in search of his comrade armed only with a grenade launcher. As the Viet Cong directed savage automatic weapons fire at the vulnerable helicopter, Warrant Officer Davis located their positions and silenced two machinegun bunkers with accurate fire from his grenade launcher. Rallying the withdrawing Vietnamese troops, he formed a defensive perimeter around the aircraft and continued to search for his fellow soldier. After swimming across a canal, he found the exhausted advisor lying in the mud on the opposite side. Braving intense enemy small arms fire, Warrant Officer Davis dragged his comrade across the canal to the waiting helicopter. After helping him aboard the aircraft, he fired his remaining grenade ammunition and suppressed the enemy weapons before then boarding the departing aircraft himself. Warrant Officer Davis' extraordinary heroism in close combat against a numerically superior Viet Cong force were in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflect great credit upon himself, his unit, and the United States Army.

VII--DISTINGUISHED FLYING CROSS. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the Act of Congress approved 2 July 1926, a Distinguished Flying Cross for extraordinary heroism while participating in aerial flight is awarded by the Department of the Army posthumously to:

Lieutenant (Junior Grade) William H. Murphy III, 681824/1100, United States Navy, who distinguished himself by heroic action on 19 November 1967, in the Central Highlands, Republic of Vietnam. On this date Lieutenant Murphy was serving as door gunner and observer of an armed helicopter on an aerial reconnaissance of the An Lao Valley. During the reconnaissance several enemy soldiers were spotted and immediately Lieutenant Murphy took them under fire. During the engagement heavy fire was received from the dense jungle but Lieutenant Murphy "leaning far outside the aircraft", continuously suppressed the enemy. During this action Lieutenant Murphy's aircraft received numerous rounds and crashed into the enemy's position. Lieutenant Murphy's devotion to duty and complete disregard for his own personal safety were in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflect great credit upon himself, his unit, and the United States Navy.

VIII--DISTINGUISHED FLYING CROSS. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the Act of Congress approved 2 July 1926, a Distinguished Flying Cross (First Oak Leaf Cluster) for extraordinary heroism while participating in aerial flight is awarded by the Department of the Army to:

Captain Eldon D. Henderson, FR70075, United States Air Force, who distinguished himself by heroic action on 15 June 1967, in Kontum Province, Republic of Vietnam. On that date Captain Henderson, serving as a Forward Air Controller, received information that a Civilian Irregular Defense Group company, led by United States Army Special Forces personnel, was overrun by a North Vietnamese Battalion. The Civilian Irregular Defense Group company, suffering heavy casualties, was completely disorganized and attempting to escape and evade enemy forces to reorganize. With complete disregard for his own safety, Captain Henderson flew his O1E aircraft at tree-top level. Locating many small groups of the friendly force, he established communications and guided these groups to a rally point where they could reorganize. Captain Henderson continued to fly in support of the ground forces until they had reorganized, even though extensive enemy fire was directed toward his aircraft. Captain Henderson's actions were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Air Force and reflect great credit upon himself and upon the military service.

IX--SOLDIER'S MEDAL. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the Act of Congress, approved 2 July 1926, a Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy is awarded to:

Specialist Five Eugene R. Allen, RA19723490, United States Army, United States Army Medical Center, Ryukyu Islands, who distinguished himself by heroism while assigned for duty as a Medical Aidman to the Okuma R&R Center, Ryukyu Islands. On 12 July 1967, Specialist Allen was summoned to render first aid to a fellow serviceman who had fallen from a waterfall approximately 100 feet high, located at Okuma, Okinawa. Showing complete disregard for his own personal safety, Specialist Allen crawled over extremely hazardous terrain to where the victim lay seriously injured. Upon reaching the injured person, he administered emergency medical aid which stemmed loss of blood and prevented shock and the subsequent death of the patient. The physical characteristics of the terrain made evacuation by litter impossible and the hazardous areas along the evacuation route made it necessary for Specialist Allen to carry the patient on his back. During this slow, tedious procedure, Specialist Allen covered ground so hazardous that a single step could have resulted in death. Because of Specialist Allen's altertness and quick thinking, the patient was evacuated to the United States Army Hospital, Ryukyu Islands, in record time for further medical treatment. Specialist Allen's heroic performance of duty is in keeping with the highest traditions of military service and reflects great credit upon himself and the United States Army Medical Corps. (This award supersedes the Army Commendation Medal awarded to Specialist Allen by the Commanding General, United States Army, Ryukyu Islands, under provisions of paragraph 7a, AR 672-5-1, for heroism on 12 July 1967.)

Private Dennis K. Julian, RA18814290, United States Army, who distinguished himself by performing an act of heroism on 18 January 1968. While enroute to Fort Benning, Georgia, the bus upon which Private Julian was traveling stopped in Springville, Utah. During the stop, Private Julian observed a woman being beaten and mauled by an armed male assailant. Without hesitation and with disregard for his personal safety, Private Julian jumped from the bus and pulled the man from the woman. During the fierce ensuing struggle, the assailant's pistol discharged: the bullet narrowly missing Private Julian and lodging in the overhead luggage rack of the bus. Ignoring the great risk and danger involved Private Julian continued to grapple with his opponent while attempting to wrest the pistol from his grasp. Only when he was finally knocked to the ground and after the attacker had fled did Private Julian discontinue his efforts and turn his attention to the personal well-being of the woman victim. By this intrepid act of personal heroism Private Julian has reflected great honor and distinction upon himself and the United States Army. (This award supersedes the Army Commendation Medal awarded to Private Julian for heroism on 18 January 1968, as announced in General Orders Number 10, Headquarters, United States Infantry Center, Fort Benning, Georgia, dated 14 February 1968.)

Specialist Four James W. Launderbaugh, RA15761686, United States Army, who distinguished himself by heroism on the afternoon of 13 January 1968, when he risked his own life to save the lives of three elderly Germans who had fallen through the ice on a lake in West Berlin, Germany, and were in grave danger of drowning. Hearing the cries for help and seeing that there were people in trouble, he immediately rushed to their aid. Recognizing the danger of the ice cracking still further, and without regard for his own safety, Specialist Launderbaugh stretched out on the ice and quickly pulled the frantic victims from the icy waters. His use of the proper techniques in approaching the victims on the weakened ice avoided compounding the danger. His quick action, judgment, courage, and disregard for his own safety made possible the rescue of the three elderly persons. His action reflects great credit upon himself and is in keeping with the finest traditions of the United States Army. (This award supersedes the Army Commendation Medal awarded to Specialist Four James W. Lauderbaugh for heroism on 13 January 1968, as announced in General Orders Number 33, Headquarters, United States Army Security Agency, dated 26 April 1968.)

Specialist Four Thomas Quinlan, RA12712284, United States Army, who distinguished himself by a display of heroism in the face of certain danger while performing his duties as an instructor on Mill Creek Grenade Range, Fort Knox, Ky. On 13 February 1968, Specialist Quinlan was instructing in the method of throwing fragmentation grenades with the additional responsibility of enforcing the prescribed safety precautions. Later that day, a soldier was in one of several grenade pits for the purpose of throwing a live fragmentation grenade. When given the command to throw, the soldier threw the grenade in a lobbing motion. The armed grenade struck the inside wall of the grenade pit and rebounded into the safety trench. The soldier, apparently without looking for the grenade, jumped into the trench. Reacting instantly and without regard for his own safety, Specialist Quinlan dived into the trench and, with a single scooping motion, threw the armed grenade over and clear of the wall of the grenade pit. The grenade exploded in flight. Specialist Quinlan's positive and responsive action, without doubt, saved the soldier's life and possibly prevented serious injury to the personnel in the adjacent grenade pits. The singular act of heroism reflects great credit upon Specialist Quinlan and is in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service. (This award supersedes the Army Commendation Medal awarded to Specialist Quinlan as announced in General Orders Number 78, Headquarters, United States Army Training Center, Fort Knox, Kentucky, dated 14 March 1968.)

Specialist Five John A. Sinclair, RA12639707, United States Army, who exhibited outstanding bravery in saving the life of a drowning comrade on 5 February 1968. While participating in a training exercise off the coast of Puerto Rico, the rubber raft on which Specialist Sinclair and four others were aboard was capsized by the heavy surf. At this time the victim had submerged twice and consumed great quantities of water, and consequently had difficulty in swimming and lost his composure. Without regard for his own personal safety, under extremely adverse conditions, Specialist Sinclair observed the soldier's difficulty and immediately swam out to assist him, himself being 10 meters closer to shore than his drowning comrade. After reaching the victim, Specialist Sinclair had to battle the swift undercurrent and additional battering by huge waves in order to bring his comrade safely to shore. In spite of these difficulties, Specialist Sinclair was successful in bringing the victim safely to shore. Specialist Sinclair's actions are in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflect great credit upon himself, his unit, and the United States Army.

X--BRONZE STAR MEDAL. By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 11046, 24 August 1962, a Bronze Star medal with "V" device for heroism in connection with military operations against hostile forces is awarded to:

Sergeant Raybon C. Cox, AF18727814, United States Air Force, who distinguished himself by heroism, not involving participation in aerial flight, in connection with military operations against a hostile force on 1 through 2 January 1968 while serving as United States Air Force Liaison Noncommissioned Officer with Headquarters 3d Brigade, 25th Infantry Division, during the defense of Fire Support Base Burt. When a large Viet Cong force attacked Fire Support Base Burt, Sergeant Cox continued to maintain communications with tactical air strikes that were necessary to effectively contain and break the enemy that threatened the lives of all personnel within the brigade perimeter. Although he was repeatedly exposed to hostile fire, Sergeant Cox continued his mission. Sergeant Cox's personal bravery and devotion to duty were in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflect great credit upon himself, his unit, and the United States Air Force.

XV—ARMY COMMENDATION MEDAL. By direction of the Secretary of the Army, under the provisions of paragraph 33, AR 672–5–1, the Army Commendation Medal with "V" device for heroism is awarded to:

Captain William D. Jenkins, FV3156900, United States Air Force, who distinguished himself by heroism in connection with military operations against a hostile force in Quang Tri Province, Republic of Vietnam on 12 March 1967 while serving as a Forward Air Controller in an O–1 Observation Aircraft for the 1st Airborne Task Force, Airborne Division, Army of the Republic of Vietnam. The Task Force was pursuing an unfriendly force estimated to be battalion size. The previous night another Forward Air Controller and a C–47 flare ship had taken heavy groundfire from west of Gio Linh. Voluntarily and heroically, Captain Jenkins flew over this area in many low passes, drew fire from the area and saw the hostile force withdrawing into the Demilitarized Zone along a heavily entrenched route. Maintaining constant radio communication with the attacking units on the ground to determine their position and progress, Captain Jenkins recommended that the unfriendly force be attacked by combat support aircraft. Despite exposure to heavy hostile groundfire, Captain Jenkins directed the missions with complete disregard for his own safety. Due to the large number of unfriendly forces seen and suspected to be in the area, Captain Jenkins directed the combat support aircraft so that artillery could be fired in the vicinity concurrently with the combat support missions. The application of this dual firepower was due primarily to the professionalism, coordination, and skill with which Captain Jenkins directed the support aircraft. Captain Jenkins' keen observation of the battlefield during the morning and his skillful coordination of air and ground forces directly assisted in gaining and maintaining fire supremacy over the unfriendly force. During this operation, Captain Jenkins' brave actions, personal example and professional competence were of the highest order and reflected great credit upon himself and the military service.
