Chief Warrant Officer Goldberg voluntarily participated in a hazardous reconnaissance mission as pilot of an H-21C helicopter. To accomplish this mission, he was required to fly over mountainous, jungle terrain, under adverse weather conditions consisting of low clouds and poor visibility, into an area unsecured by friendly forces. Despite the tactical situation, hazardous flying conditions, and personal risk, he performed his duties with fortitude, initiative, and professional competence. Chief Warrant Officer Goldberg's courage and dedicated devotion to duty are in the highest traditions of the United States Army and reflect great credit upon himself and the military service.

Specialist Five Harold L. Guthrie, [REDACTED], Transportation Corps, United States Army, distinguished himself by heroism while participating in aerial flight on 15 July 1962, near Dak Rhode, Vietnam. Specialist Guthrie voluntarily participated in a hazardous reconnaissance mission as crew chief of an H-21C helicopter. To accomplish this mission, he was required to fly over mountainous, jungle terrain, under adverse weather conditions consisting of low clouds and poor visibility, into an area unsecured by friendly forces. Despite the tactical situation, hazardous flying conditions, and personal risk, he performed his duties with fortitude, initiative, and professional competence. Specialist Guthrie's courage and dedicated devotion to duty are in the highest traditions of the United States Army and reflect great credit upon himself and the military service.

Specialist Five James E. Lane, [REDACTED], Transportation Corps, United States Army, distinguished himself by heroism while participating in aerial flight on 15 July 1962, near Dak Rhode, Vietnam. Specialist Lane voluntarily participated in a hazardous reconnaissance mission as gunner of an H-21C helicopter. To accomplish this mission, he was required to fly over mountainous, jungle terrain, under adverse weather conditions consisting of low clouds and poor visibility, into an area unsecured by friendly forces. Despite the tactical situation, hazardous flying conditions, and personal risk, he performed his duties with fortitude, initiative, and professional competence. Specialist Lane's courage and dedicated devotion to duty are in the highest traditions of the United States Army and reflect great credit upon himself and the military service.

VI. DISTINGUISHED FLYING CROSS. 1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the Act of Congress, approved 2 July 1926, a Distinguished Flying Cross for heroism while participating in aerial flight is awarded by the Department of the Army to:

Major Robert F. Corneil, Jr., [REDACTED], Transportation Corps, United States Army, distinguished himself by heroism while participating in aerial flight on 15 July 1962, near Dak Rhode, Vietnam. Major Corneil voluntarily participated in a hazardous reconnaissance mission as co-pilot of an H-21C helicopter. To accomplish this mission, he was required to fly over mountainous, jungle terrain, under adverse weather conditions consisting of low clouds and poor visibility, into an area unsecured by friendly forces. Despite the tactical situation, hazardous flying conditions, and personal risk, he performed his duties with fortitude, initiative, and professional competence. Major Corneil's courage and dedicated devotion to duty are in the highest traditions of the United States Army and reflect great credit upon himself and the military service.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the Act of Congress, approved 2 July 1926, a Distinguished Flying Cross for extraordinary achievement while participating in aerial flight is awarded by the Department of the Army to:

First Lieutenant Charles W. Beaman, [REDACTED], Transportation Corps, United States Army. 4 February 1963.

Chief Warrant Officer John P. D'Angelo, [REDACTED], United States Army. 4 February 1963.

VII. SOLDIER'S MEDAL. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the Act of Congress, approved 2 July 1926, a Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy is awarded to:

First Lieutenant Bruce L. Marsh, [REDACTED], Ordnance Corps, United States Army, 542d Ordnance Detachment, First United States Army, distinguished himself by heroism on 16 December 1962, at Fort Jay, Governors Island, New York. While in the vicinity of the dock area, Lieutenant Marsh observed an automobile, apparently out of control, move across the ferry dock and plunge into the water. He immediately rushed to the scene and attempted a rescue by throwing a life preserver to the victim who had crawled out of the car and was clinging to the slowly sinking and drifting vehicle. Because of the distance of approximately 60 feet, Lieutenant Marsh was unsuccessful in this effort. He quickly stripped off his clothing, and with complete disregard for his own personal safety, dove into the icy and treacherous currents, swam to the life preserver, pushed it to the stricken individual, helped him to grasp it, and towed him to the dock where they were both assisted to safety. Lieutenant Marsh's prompt and heroic action is in the highest tradition of the United States Army and reflects great credit upon himself and the military service.
