History. This publication is a major revision.

Summary. This revision reflects practices and procedures consistent with 10 USC 10302 and 10 USC 3014.

Applicability. This regulation applies to the Active Army, the Army National Guard/Army National Guard of the United States, and the U.S. Army Reserve, unless otherwise stated.

Proponent and exception authority. The proponent agency of this regulation is the Office of the Assistant Secretary of the Army for Manpower and Reserve Affairs. The proponent has the authority to approve exceptions or waivers to this regulation by providing justification that includes a full analysis of the expected benefits and must include formal review by the activity’s senior legal officer. All waiver requests will be endorsed by the commander or senior leader of the requesting activity and forwarded through their higher headquarters to the policy proponent. Refer to AR 25–30 for specific guidance.

Army internal control process. This regulation contains internal controls and provides an Internal Control Evaluation for use in evaluating key internal controls (see appendix B).

Supplementation. Supplementation of this regulation and establishment of command and local forms are prohibited without prior approval from the Secretary of the Army, Office of the Secretary of the Army, Army Pentagon, Washington, DC 20310.

Suggested improvements. Users are invited to send comments and suggested improvements using DA Form 2028 (Recommended Changes to Publications and Blank Forms) directly to Office of the Assistant Secretary of the Army for Manpower and Reserve Affairs, Army Pentagon, Washington, DC 20310.

Committee management. AR 15–1 requires the proponent to justify establishing/continuing committee(s), coordinate draft publications, and coordinate changes in committee status with the U.S. Army Resources and Programs Agency, Department of the Army Committee Management Office (AARP-ZA), 9301 Chapek Road, Building 1458, Fort Belvoir, VA 22060-5527. 5. Authority of the committee
a. General. The ARFPC is an office of the SecArmy (10 United States Code (USC) 3014) and derives its authority from this regulation or as directed by the SecArmy. The ARFPC and its ARNG and USAR subcommittees will review and provide assessments and recommendations to the SecArmy and Chief of Staff, Army (CSA) on major policy matters and preparedness and capability readiness issues directly affecting the Active Component (AC) and Reserve Component (RC). Additionally, the ARFPC should recommend policy changes to ensure AC and RC synchronization as part of the Total Army. ARFPC comments on policy matters and readiness issues will accompany reports submitted to the SecArmy and CSA. The ARFPC, its ARNG and USAR subcommittees, or the military executive(s) will review regulations or changes that affect the basic structure and logistical support of the RC. The committee is empowered to consider both coordinated and such uncoordinated matters presented by Army Staff divisions, committee members, Army commands, and special commissions. ARFPC assessments and recommendations will be sent to the CSA and the SecArmy.

b. Army Reserve Forces Policy Committee. The ARFPC will act whenever major mobilization readiness and RC policy matters are being considered.

c. Subcommittee on Army National Guard policy. The subcommittee on ARNG policy will act when any matter solely concerning the ARNG is being considered.

d. Subcommittee on Army Reserve policy. The subcommittee on Army Reserve policy will act when any matter solely concerning the USAR is being considered.

e. Dissents from decisions of the committee. A dissenting committee member may initiate an appeal to any decision of the committee. The member will give notice of such action to the chairperson and other members of the committee. The notice may be forwarded to the SecArmy as a minority report with the committee action.

6. Authority of the chairperson
The ARFPC chairperson has the power to decide any matter within the jurisdiction of the committee when a majority decision cannot be reached by its members. The chairperson is authorized to establish, within the committee, continuing or temporary subcommittees or ad hoc groups to assist in carrying out the responsibilities of the committee. These groups may be needed to conduct studies, assemble information, or make recommendations. Members of these groups may be placed on additional active duty to achieve their mission. Similar authority is extended to the chairperson of the subcommittees on ARNG policy and Army Reserve policy for issues considered by their subcommittees.

7. Composition
a. Army Reserve Forces Policy Committee. Principal and alternate members of the ARFPC will be general officers, or a civilian grade equivalent, appointed by the SecArmy to serve three-year terms as follows:

The chairperson will be elected by the principal members of the whole committee. The chairperson should be in the grade of major general.
(a) When a chairperson vacates office before their Component is due to rotate the role of chairperson back to the other RC, a new chairperson will be elected from the remaining four principal members of the incumbent subcommittee by the principle members of the whole committee.
(b) The chairperson’s term on the ARFPC will be extended if there is not sufficient time to complete the two-year term as chairperson. However, if a chairperson is replacing a chairperson of the same RC, that chairperson can only be extended to the completion of the vacating chairperson’s term.

         (c) Possess a current security clearance for access to top secret materials or be eligible for such security clearance.

9. Service on the Army Reserve Forces Policy Committee
   a. Term of office.
      (1) Reserve Component members’ three-year term. The SecArmy will appoint all ARFPC members for a term of three years. 10 USC 10302 requires that two or more officers of each RC with more than one year of continuous service be on the committee at all times. New members should be given the widest possible chance to serve on the ARFPC. Continuing representation from among qualified general officers of the ARNG and USAR should be assured.
      (2) Extensions. Because members should be rotated without undue turbulence, the SecArmy may extend principal member appointments in one-year increments. Appointments may be extended when necessary—
         (a) To insure compliance with 10 USC 10302.
         (b) To limit membership turnover of either ARNG or USAR principal members.

   b. Filling vacancies. If a principal member becomes—
      (1) Permanently unable to serve for some reason, the SecArmy may designate an alternate to serve a three-year term of office.
      (2) Temporarily unable to serve, as determined by the SecArmy, an alternate will be designated to serve until the principal member is able to resume ARFPC activity.
      (3) Reserve Component officers entering active duty. When RC officers enter active duty on a full-time basis, their membership on the ARFPC will be terminated.
      (4) Reserve Component officers transferring to inactive status. When RC officers are transferred to inactive status, their membership on the ARFPC will be terminated.

10. Military executives
    a. Appointment. The SecArmy will appoint one ARNGUS and one USAR officer in grade not lower than colonel as military executives of the ARFPC. The ARFPC chairperson and deputy chairperson, in consultation with the CAR and DARNG as appropriate, will recommend to the SecArmy those nominated for appointment. Appointees will be assigned from the Active Guard Reserve Program. The normal tour of duty for the ARFPC military executives is two years with an option for a one-year extension. Exceptionally well-qualified officers may be granted one extension, not to exceed one year. While serving, the military executives will be detailed to duty on the Army Staff as additional members.

b. Authority. Military executives will have authority to take executive action in keeping with approved plans, programs, and policies of the committee. They will act on those matters that do not require formal committee action. Military executives will have the authority to act on those matters when time does not permit formal committee concurrences.

c. Duties. Military executives will—
(1) Prepare the committee agenda.
(2) Organize the information needed for members of the committee.
(3) Take necessary steps to assemble the committee.

11. Administration

a. The SecArmy has statutory responsibility for providing the ARFPC such personnel, facilities, and other administrative services as are needed to perform committee functions. The SecArmy has delegated to the ASA (M&RA) the authority to provide assistance and overall guidance in an administrative control relationship.

b. The ARFPC will meet at the call of the SecArmy or the ARFPC chairperson, and at such other times as are fixed by the committee. The presence of a majority of committee members, or qualified alternates, will constitute a quorum.

c. The separate subcommittees will meet at the call of the SecArmy, the chairperson of the subcommittee concerned, and at such other times as are fixed by the ARFPC. The presence of a majority of subcommittee members, or qualified alternates, will constitute a quorum.

d. The ARFPC and subcommittee will follow Robert’s Rules of Order.

(2) Ensure that documents on such issues en route to SecArmy and CSA include the ARFPC’s comments among those staffing the documents.

12. Relationships

a. The chairperson, committee members, and the military executives will communicate directly and expeditiously with other DA agencies on any matter within their jurisdiction and in which a mutual interest or responsibility exists.

b. The ARFPC will—
(1) Coordinate its efforts with all DA agencies having mutual interest in or responsibility for any of the programs or policies being considered.
(2) Determine what formal concurrences, if any, are required.

c. The DAS is tasked in coordinating, synchronizing, disseminating, and monitoring of tasks from the SecArmy. Hence, the DAS will have special relationship with the ARFPC in order to meet the SecArmy’s intent.

d. An observer or liaison officer may represent Army Staff agencies, other than those listed in paragraphs 7a(1) and 7a(2), at ARFPC meetings. Observer or liaison officers will take part in ARFPC meetings with the prior approval of the chairperson.
